Business Title: Neuroradiologist - Asst. Assoc. or Professor (CT or CHS Track)

Official title: Clinical Professor(IC009) or Clinical Associate Professor(IC010) or Clinical Assistant Professor(IC011) or Professor (CHS)(IC014) or Associate Professor (CHS)(IC015) or Assistant Professor (CHS)(IC016)

Qualifications:

Fellowship training in Neuroradiology - Required
Training in Pediatric Neuroradiology or Head and Neck Imaging is Preferred

Job Summary:

The Department of Radiology, University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Medicine and Public Health is seeking a full-time neuroradiologist, interested in pursuing an academic career in Neuroradiology at the rank of Assistant, Associate or full Professor on the CHS (Clinical Health Sciences) Track or CT (Clinician Teacher) Track.

The UW Department of Radiology provides excellence in an environment that is respectful of others, adaptive to change, accountable for outcomes, and attentive to the needs of underserved populations. We are dedicated to sharing our clinical expertise through regional outreach to the people of Wisconsin and their healthcare providers. We provide an environment for education of our trainees, staff, and healthcare professionals through scholarly conferences and continuing education programs. We improve human health by developing innovative imaging technology through basic and translational research in collaboration with colleagues at UW-Madison and beyond. We support the Wisconsin Idea to improve people's lives beyond our walls by collaborating with industry to translate new technology into daily clinical practice. We support the economic development of Wisconsin and the financial wellbeing of UW Health. We recruit and develop dedicated faculty and health professionals who inspire their co-workers and students towards lifelong learning, research discovery, service to their community and clinical excellence.

As a public employee, the successful applicant will participate in the Wisconsin Retirement System (WRS) which includes pension benefits and malpractice coverage. This position also comes with a competitive salary, vacation and generous retirement options.

For appointments hired on the Clinical Health Sciences (CHS) Track:

The successful applicant will provide patient care at UW Health approved locations, participate in resident and medical teaching within the scope of the medical practice. The successful applicant will participate in the administrative, and committee work to support the clinical and scholarly missions of UW Health and the School of Medicine and Public Health. An essential part of these duties will be working in a collegial relationship with other faculty members.

For appointments hired on the Clinician Teacher (CT) Track:

The successful applicant will provide patient care at UW Health approved locations, participate in resident and medical teaching within the scope of the medical practice.

Responsibilities:

This faculty position will include clinical duties, teaching and academic research. Breakdown of duties will be dependent on the track the successful applicant is hired.

Clinical duties will include all aspects of diagnostic neuroradiology and head and neck radiology including, but not exclusive to Computed Tomography (CT), Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI), Ultrasound (US) and myelography. Call responsibilities will be defined by staffing levels and will be assigned by the section chief.

Teaching assignments include medical student, resident, fellow and other department trainees as appropriate.

The successful applicant filling this position will demonstrate expertise and interest in Neuroradiology and participate in administrative and committee work to support the clinical and scholarly missions of UW Health and UW-Madison, School of Medicine and Public Health. An essential part of these duties will be working in a collegial relationship with other faculty members.

Standard Summary: IC009 Clinical Professor

Responsible for the supervision of the clinical training of students. This function is used to describe instructional academic staff positions in the health sciences and other academic disciplines with clinical practices. Individuals appointed at the clinical instructor level may have qualifications and training comparable with faculty. Clinical titles must have approval of an academic department. Modified professorial functions have four prefixes or levels: Instructor, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor and Professor. The specific definition of each level for professorial academic staff titles is left to the purview of each unit in which the title is employed. However, differences between successively higher title levels must reflect demonstrable differences in experience and knowledge gained, applied to the specific duties of the function.

Education:

Required
Terminal Degree
