

Boston Children's Hospital

The Boston Children's Hospital Department of Radiology is seeking a full-time pediatric neuroradiologist to join our Neuroradiology division. The successful candidate will be expected to provide clinical coverage in pediatric neuroradiology. The Radiology Department is active in all aspects of pediatric imaging including the provision of exceptional clinical, imaging research, and educational services.

Appointment as an Instructor, Assistant Professor or Associate Professor at the Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements in addition to teaching activities. Suitable candidates will have an MD or MD-PhD, Board Certification in Radiology (American Board of Radiology or its equivalent), completed fellowship training in Pediatric Neuroradiology, must have passed or be eligible for the CAQ in Neuroradiology, and must be eligible for a full Massachusetts medical license. Demonstrated academic achievement and clinical practice experience in Pediatric Neuroradiology is required.

Any interested and qualified candidate should address their inquiry and curriculum vitae to: Caroline Robson MBChB
